INSTRUCTIONS

Filing Instructions, Next Steps, and When to Get Legal Help

Where this packet goes

File in the court that handled the case. Before filing, contact that court's records office to confirm whether the petition uses the existing cause number or a new filing number and whether the court has a preferred local form or filing method.

OFFICE

Records office or clerk for City of Jackson Municipal Court in Jackson

Confirm the fee or waiver

No universal fee amount is printed in this packet. Ask the records office of the court that handled the case whether a filing fee applies to this subsection (4) petition.

If a fee applies and you cannot afford it, ask that court which pauper's affidavit or fee-waiver process it accepts. Do not assume a statewide amount or waiver form.

Service and local practice

Deliver a copy to City Prosecutor for the City of Jackson at the confirmed address 219 South President Street, Jackson, MS 39201 when the local court directs. The certificate leaves the method and date blank until service actually occurs. Ask the records office whether advance notice, prosecutor approval as to form, or another local step is required.

Copies and records

Keep a complete copy of everything you file and a certified or conformed copy of any signed order. Ask the records office how many filing, judge, prosecutor, and participant copies the local court wants.

WHAT TO BRING

Signed original plus the number of copies confirmed by the court of origin

Limits after an order

An expungement order does not direct destruction of fingerprint records. The Mississippi Criminal Information Center keeps a nonpublic record for first-offender determinations. An employer may still ask whether an order of expunction was entered. Keep a certified copy of any signed order and answer questions according to the law that applies to the particular question.

What happens next

1. File the signed petition, proposed order, certificate or service materials required by local practice, and the applicable attachments with the court of origin. (after every record fact and local filing step is confirmed)
2. Provide the prosecuting authority the copy required by the court and complete the certificate only when service occurs. (at the time directed by the court's local practice)
3. Watch for a hearing notice, request for another record, objection, or signed order. (after filing; the statute supplies no universal decision deadline)
4. If an order is signed, obtain and keep a certified or conformed copy and ask the court which listed agencies receive it and whether you must deliver copies. (promptly after entry of the order)
5. Follow up with the court and the agencies named in the order if the public record does not change after they have had time to process it. (on the timetable those offices confirm)

Stop and get legal help

- The docket says 'passed to the file,' 'retired to the file,' remanded, or uses another ambiguous case-ending entry. The repository does not establish that this route covers that entry. Stop here and get help before you go further.
- The case moved between courts or the court of origin is unclear. Venue and caption treatment require legal review before filing. Stop here and get help before you go further.
- The case involved nonadjudication, pretrial intervention, diversion, intervention court, or drug court. Those are different Mississippi routes with different legal treatment. Stop here and get help before you go further.
- A related charge or a co-defendant matter remains pending. Filing may affect or disclose an open matter. Stop here and get help before you go further.
- The prosecuting authority refuses to approve the proposed order as to form where the local court expects that approval. Do not sign for the prosecutor or file as though approval was given. Stop here and get help before you go further.
- You are not a United States citizen or have any immigration concern. Record clearing can interact with immigration law and requires qualified immigration advice. Stop here and get help before you go further.

Before you file

- Compare the court, filing location, cause number, and your legal name against the certified disposition and docket sheet.
- Copy the charge, dates, agency, agency identifier, and exact disposition category from the records rather than memory.
- Confirm the prosecuting office, current service address, timing, and any approval-as-to-form practice with the court of origin.
- Ask the court of origin about the filing method, fee or waiver, and number of copies.
- Leave signature and service-time fields blank until you perform those acts, and leave prosecutor and court fields for those officials.
- Stop and get legal help if the disposition, venue, related pending matter, prosecutor treatment, or immigration effect is unclear.
