WHAT THIS SET OF PAPERS IS

Motion to Set Aside a Conviction under the Youth Rehabilitation Act, D.C. Code Sec. 24-906(e-1).

A youth offender, meaning a person who was 24 or younger at the time of the offense, may move to set aside the conviction after completing probation, incarceration, supervised release, or parole, whichever is later, regardless of whether they were sentenced under the YRA. Discretionary: the court considers the Sec. 24-903(c)(2) factors and makes a written statement on the record of its reasons.

WHERE IT GOES

Superior Court of the District of Columbia, Criminal Division

Service and response mechanics are unresolved. Whether the set-aside and the sealing motion are filed together or in sequence is unresolved.

Venue: District of Columbia Superior Court, Criminal Division; one motion per case number in the case being addressed.

WHAT IT COSTS, AND WHETHER A WAIVER EXISTS

No committed record this packet binds states a filing fee for this route - the record says: "The source review does not state a filing fee for this motion.". The office that answers it is the clerk's office of Superior Court of the District of Columbia, Criminal Division (the venue the registry records for this route: District of Columbia Superior Court, Criminal Division; one motion per case number in the case being addressed.). No committed record states a fee-waiver procedure for this route - the record says: "The source review does not address a fee waiver.". Ask the clerk's office of Superior Court of the District of Columbia, Criminal Division (the venue the registry records for this route: District of Columbia Superior Court, Criminal Division; one motion per case number in the case being addressed.) for its own fee-waiver application.

WHO MUST BE SERVED

No committed record this packet binds states a service requirement for this route - the record says: "Unresolved. Service and response mechanics are among the items counsel must confirm.". The office that answers who must be served, and how, is the clerk's office of Superior Court of the District of Columbia, Criminal Division (the venue the registry records for this route: District of Columbia Superior Court, Criminal Division; one motion per case number in the case being addressed.). Notice: the record says "Unresolved. WHAT THE RECORD SAYS YOU MUST KNOW

- A set-aside is not sealing. The person still needs a Sec. 16-806 motion to seal the associated arrest and case records.
- A certificate issues in any case where the conviction is set aside, Sec. 24-906(e-2).
- Related automatic relief: under Sec. 24-906(a) an unconditional discharge of a committed youth offender before expiration of the sentence automatically sets aside the conviction, and under Sec. 24-906(c) automatic set-aside follows early termination of supervised release by the Parole Commission.

WHEN TO STOP AND GET HELP INSTEAD OF FILING

- The prosecutor files an opposition or the court orders a response.
- The court sets a hearing.
- The record is federal, military, tribal, or from another jurisdiction.
- Immigration, firearm, licensing, security clearance, childcare, healthcare, or law enforcement employment consequences are in play.
